You are a cracking inventor. Design an invention that would be helpful either at home or at school. Draw a blue print of your invention and explain how it works.  I have squared paper for the blue print drawing.	Research the artist Lowry. What can you find out about him? Create a poster, fact file or presentation about him. Or if you can think of another creative way to show your information, that is fine too! 	Design an advert for a toy from the Victorian times. You may want to research the different toys that Victorian children played with or design you own toy. How could you make your advert eye catching? How could you persuade children to buy the toy? Could you make the toy?	During the Industrial Revolution, people would travel on foot, horse drawn carriages or some were lucky enough to travel on steam trains. Imagine what it would have been like to travel by one of these ways. Write a letter to someone (a friend or family member) describing what the journey was like. You can draw a picture to go alongside your writing if you would like to!	Make a model of the solar system. Think about how you could make the planets different sizes. 	Create a game which could have been played during the Victorian times. Write out the rules, explaining how the game is played.
